

Accessible Education & Training Resources Notice

Date: October 3, 2022

At Queen's College of Business, Technology and Public Safety, we are committed to creating an inclusive environment where every individual feels welcomed, respected, and fully independent.

As we believe education should be fully accessible, we wish to inform our college community and the public that educational and training resources in accessible formats are available upon request.

If you need any alternative and accessible textbooks, learning resources, or student records, we invite you to contact us. We will work together on any necessary alternative formats.

We look forward to seeing you at Queen's College and working together to continue to create an inclusive and diverse environment where every community member can use our services and facilities with independence and dignity.
